A Nightmare Led To Life-Saving Device

By Ouida Jewell

D.O. Davis, a retired Marine and former Fultonian, had a nightmare about three years ago and a new North Carolina industry came into being as a result. The new industry recently won the plaudits of Governor Sanford of North Carolina.

Davis, who now lives in Wilmington, N. C., explained how the "Aqua-Aid," the product made by the company, came to be.

"It was about three years ago I had a nightmare that I had fallen out of my fishing boat. I hit the bottom, and when I did, my wristwatch broke and a big balloon came out and pulled me up. I woke up and began planning."

His planning produced a 9.5 ounce plastic container with a strap, containing an inflatable plastic bag capable of keeping 200 pounds above water.

By pressing a button on the container, a cartridge of carbon dioxide is released which inflates the bag in two seconds. The cartridges are replaceable, and the device can be repacked in seconds.

The life preserver, intended as a standby for larger preservers can be worn on the wrist or belt. It retails for less than $10.

The product is being sold by a firm known as Davis-McGill, Inc. The McGill is L. C. McGill, another retired Marine, who helped Davis get a patent on his nightmare idea, and who organized the firm.

Materials for the device are purchased from big national plastic firms. The St. Paul's assembly plant, now with 16 employees, can produce 10,000 of the "Aqua-Aid" devices each week.

Note Book

If you are a parent, or a teenager, or a thoughtful individual of any age, I am going to urge you to read this column today. I am grateful to Mrs. Joe C. Powell for bringing me the letter from Joe's grandson David Powell, who lives in Mansfield, Massachusetts. David is just seventeen years old. His father Joseph Prather Powell was killed in World War II. Three of David's friends were killed in an automobile accident early Easter morning. Two of the boys used to ride to school with David every morning. The other was going to college with David to study medicine. They were close friends.

The driver of the car, referred to in the letter, was miraculously saved. David's mother wrote that the driver failed to stop at a stop sign and tried taking a corner at high speed. The car struck a tree and the three boys riding on the side of the car that hit the tree were instantly killed.

... yes, and sudden death. I'd like for you to read and re-read David Powell's reflections about the accident for I am sure you will want to pass it on to others who might get a lesson and a warning from David's experience.

Here's the letter:

Dear Grandad and Carlene:

I guess it has been a long time since I have written and there is so much to tell. First, I suppose Mom has told you about the accident that happened Easter Sunday morning. But what she probably didn't tell you is the lesson that I have learned from it. Two of those boys who died were with me that night—talking and laughing along with me. We went out and got a pizza, talked and played basketball over at my house. The other boy who died was playing basketball with me the day before and I went to church with him and after we walked around the block and thought of old times and the things we used to laugh at.

These boys will never be with me again. We'll never go to school together anymore. We'll never go out again. They are dead and gone now—to be seen no more. Why? Because another boy thought he had a fast car and could handle it.

State Owned Liquor Stores Are Proposed

A plan of state-operated liquor stores with stringent controls was proposed Tuesday as a possible means of reducing chronic alcoholism.

The proposal was advanced by state Mental Health Commissioner Harold L. McPheeters.

"This would not be absolute control but it would improve the present system. We would find that chronic alcoholism would drop off tremendously," McPheeters said.

The doctor's proposal called for a limit on the number of liquor stores, the time of operation and some restriction in purchases.

Liquor stores in wet territory now are operated privately with quotas for the number of package and drink establishments set by a state board.

McPheeters said temperance people and the distilling industry "won't be happy about this suggestion."

He brought up the idea at the first Kentucky alumni meeting of the Yale School of Alcohol Studies. Its session is in conjunction with the Kentucky Public Health Association meeting.

The question of state-owned liquor stores has been brought up previously in Kentucky but from the standpoint of state operation

Enthusiasm High, Funds Low To Start Expanded Youth Recreational Program

Enthusiasm is mounting fast among the boys and girls of all ages who plan to play baseball and softball this summer, but the funds with which to operate the leagues are coming in at a snail's pace. Riley Allen, president of Twin Cities Youth, Incorporated said that the letters mailed to interested citizens for contributions to buy "stock" in the plan to encourage and develop the mental and physical betterment of the young people in the twin cities are coming in slowly: "too slowly," he said. "If every family whose child, or children participate in our youth recreational program this year sends in the small contribution asked for, we'd have no trouble financing the project," he added.

Twin-Cities Youth Incorporated was formed this year for the purpose of encouraging, and promoting the cultural, moral, mental and physical betterment of all youth in and near the vicinity of South Fulton, Tenn., and Fulton, Ky.

Baseball, softball, volleyball, tennis and other athletic events are sponsored by this organization and this coming season promises to be the best yet.

Officers of Twin-Cities Youth, Inc. are: Riley Allen, president; Randall Burcham, vice president; David Phelps, secretary; Paul Brann, John Joe Campbell, Elson McGuire, Charles Pawlukiewicz, Lonnie Roper and Louis Weeks.

"All contributions to this organization are deductible from your income tax. It is hoped that the entire populace will show an interest in the youth of the community by giving generously and freely so that the Twin-Cities may have an active, well-rounded recreational program for the boys and girls of the community," Riley said.

Letters, containing self-addressed envelopes, were mailed last week asking for donations. Write your check now and mail in self-addressed envelopes. If you do not receive one of the letters, mail your contributions to Twin Cities Youth Incorporated, care Fulton Bank, Fulton, Ky.

Boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 17 are eligible to participate. Cards are being distributed through the local schools today. The girls softball program is divided into two age groups. There are four groups in the boys division—Minor, Little, Pony and Connie Mack Leagues. Sign up now to participate in the program.

Kenneth Allen star basketball player on Fulton's 1962 team has been employed as park supervisor.

These Derby House Guests are DECIDEDLY congenial

Derby Doin's Fill Diary With Moments To Remember

Most of the time this column is written in newspaper vernacular, using the editorial "we." Today it is written in the same vernacular, but the "we" used is the first person plural, for your editors, Paul and I, attended our first Kentucky Derby last week-end, and we, and I do mean, we, had what the adjective-slingers would call, a fabulous time. As I look back on the exciting three days of the past week-end, I am at a loss to pinpoint any one event as the highlight of the trip, because it was all, yes you're right, fabulous. The trip was worth waiting fifteen years to take, and if we never do anything else in our lifetimes, I will say we have been more than compensated by having the memory of a week-end at the Kentucky Derby.

To those of you who have never been, I'd like for you to pull up a chair and sit with me, while I try to tell you as much as space permits, about this exciting adventure, so the thing for me to do is start from the beginning.

We (Paul and I) left Fulton Friday morning about nine-thirty for Louisville where I was to attend a meeting at noon. It was raining right sharply in Louisville so it was fun, after the meeting, to visit around with Kentuckians from all over the State who were coming in early for the big event on Saturday. In the late afternoon we drove to Frankfort with Ellis Merrifield and Helen Price, of Mr. Wyatt's office, and they took us to the Governor's residence where we were the house guests of Bert and Mabel Combs.

The Governor's residence never looked more beautiful! Every room was decorated with huge bouquets of Spring flowers and the State reception rooms were resplendent with color. Long tables were placed in the ballroom and the private dining-room and the solarium to take care of the more than 900 guests the Governor and Mrs.

traditional Derby breakfast on Combs were expecting for the Saturday morning.

The Governor and Mrs. Combs had extended an invitation to Attorney General and Mrs. Robert Kennedy to be their house-guests, but unfortunately they were unable to attend. The Washington scene obviously is not one where you can make plans and keep them, for Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Orville Freeman were to be house guests of the Wilson Wyatts, and they too, sent their regrets as late as last Friday. But the guests at the residence were other interesting people that we've known and loved for many years and we were delighted and fortunate to be with them. Sylvia and Gilbert Kingsbury of Fort Mitchell were there and so were Frances and Ned Breathitt of Hopkinsville. Gil is vice-president for public relations for the Croxley Radio and Television Corporation and Ned is a Hopkinsville attorney and incidentally a candidate for Governor next year. Governor and Mrs. Matthew Welch of Indiana and their lovely twin daughters, Janet and Kay, were also house guests as was the most perfectly charming young lady by the name of Martha Ann

Reed of Virginia, who is Lois Combs' room-mate at Randolph-Macon. It was a most congenial group and how we loved being with all of them. Martha Ann was also viewing the Derby excitement for the first time, and everything we saw and did put stars in our eyes.

Friday night the Breathitts, the Combes and Martha Ann went to the Kentucky Colonels dinner in Louisville while Paul and I stayed in Frankfort for a round of gay pre-Derby parties planned by many of our friends there. The Welch did not arrive until Saturday morning.

On Derby Day I got up earlier than I usually do, and that's early, to get ready for the most exciting two days I've ever spent. As I looked out of our bedroom I viewed the lovely grounds around the Governor's mansion and I could hardly believe that I was so lucky to have the opportunity I was witnessing. At about eight thirty I could hear the first early guests arriving, and all of us went downstairs to help the Combes receive their guests. It was such fun visiting with so many friends we have made in Kentucky these past years and it was good to en-

Elvis Stahr Receives the Plaudits of A Grateful President for His Distinguished Army Service

Last week, our distinguished native son, Elvis J. Stahr, Jr. of Hickman, Ky. resigned his position as Secretary of the Army. The resignation came following some unfortunate news stories that reported a conflict between Stahr and his superior, Secretary of Defense McNamara. The rumors were subsequently denied by both Stahr and McNamara, but that's Washington, for you. The important thing is that Elvis Stahr is going to become president of Indiana University on July first and his services as Secretary of Army were as outstanding and distinguished as anything and everything he has ever done.

We are privileged to publish here the letter received by Secretary Stahr from President John F. Kennedy following the former's resignation. The letter tells the whole story of the high repute in which Mr. Stahr was regarded in an important and difficult position and we know you will share the pride we all feel in his accomplishments.

The letter:
The White House
Washington, D. C.

2 May 1962

Dear Elvis:

It is with regret and reluctance that I accept your resignation as Secretary of the Army effective June 30, 1962. Your personal dedication to the task and to the Army has been an inspiration to the men and women of the United States Army. You can take up your new and most important post at Indiana University with great satisfaction of a job well done and a service truly performed for the Government and the people of our country.

Your conduct of Army affairs has been an outstanding example of good management. Your policies of recognition of young talent, of examination and adoption of new doctrines and techniques, and emphasis on vigorous leadership for our Army marks your tenure as Army Secretary.

In an uneasy period of international tension, under your leadership the Army has effectively performed its mission. The improvements made are important ones; the sacrifices that have been made are appreciated deeply by the American people; and the pride and highest esprit of the Army today is more than justified.

There is no way to compare the importance of the post you have just filled to the presidency of a large university. In a sense, however, you can contribute directly to the future of our nation and prepare new citizens for the greater challenges to come in your post. It is a worthy one and I want you to know that my personal wishes for success go with you.

I know that Secretary McNamara and your colleagues, both civilian and military, join with me in expressing our thanks for your loyal cooperation.

I have personally enjoyed our association. I sincerely appreciate your untiring service and effectiveness with which you have met your manifold responsibilities.

With warm regards and best wishes.

Sincerely,
John F. Kennedy

SERMONETTE OF THE WEEK

"Toward a Mature Faith" 2 Timothy 1:3-7; 3:10-17

The church has often failed, but who would say her efforts have not been worthwhile?

Sometimes the church may be to blame for her failure; we have not been as diligent in carrying the Gospel to benighted people as we might have been, and we make slow progress in purifying our society at home. We Christians must practice self-examination and that includes criticizing the church we love. The church does not bear all the blame for her failures. We have a hard and relentless foe.

The thing stressed in this lesson is growth — growth in grace and knowledge of God. There is no standing still in life. When a tree ceases to grow it begins to die.

Of the means of growth given in this lesson, the first is fellowship. The older man, Paul, thanked God for Timothy (1:3). He also asked Timothy to follow his example of loyalty, patience, steadfastness (3:10). He was not boasting when he asked that. Paul was grateful for Timothy's sincere faith, his loyalty as a friend. Their fellowship in the Gospel could be a source of strength to both. We do not live the Christian life in aloneness.

Another means of growth is to keep building on the foundation laid. Timothy's Christian life started with the teaching of his mother and grandmother. Every learner must be a wiser and better Christian than his instructor.

A third way to grow is to keep rekindling the grace of God within us. Timothy was urged to "fan into a flame" the gifts given in ordination. "Advantages are tools to be used, not pillows upon which to recline." The "laying on of hands" was a symbol that the prayers of blessing are being spoken for the one upon whom the hands rest. The blessings sought must come from God, not from the human being who offers the prayer.

We must practice faith. Christians today, as always, have their stalking fears. The only antidote for these fears is shining, steadfast confidence in God. When we have "the will to believe" God imparts this secret confidence.

The lesson title could be misleading. May it not suggest to any one that by mature faith we mean a calm and unconcerned faith? We have too much of that already. Nor do we want a fanatical faith, like a brush fire that flares up, burns brightly and then dies down leaving only a charred earth.

A mature faith is one which is sure of God's saving grace in Jesus Christ our Lord. That is central and will not and cannot be changed. Starting with that central fact that the Christian must use the means of growth our religion provides. It is through the Bible that we learn saving truths to be found no other place. It is an exhaustible mine of spiritual treasure.

If we let God speak to us in His Word we have the untold blessing of guidance. It is no idle speech the writer of Proverbs gives when he says that if we acknowledge God in all ways He will direct our paths.

Another asset is prayer. How often we deprive ourselves of the blessing because we neglect this great privilege, for it releases the very power of God in our lives. In this fellowship we can truly thank God for our trials, our difficulties and adversities, and find comfort and strength in the refining experience of God in our lives.

100 Years Ago This Week

An historical review of THE CIVIL WAR DAY-BY-DAY. Material is from publication of exactly one hundred years ago original wording from references in the Library of Congress, Washington. Reporting in the papers was usually very one-sided; we seek to be fair in coverage and preserve a national balance. . . . EDI.

BY WILLIAM H. McHENRY

Second week in May, 1862

The Confederacy had passed a conscription law, but the Richmond ENQUIRER reported that there was some "secrecy" about the law. The same paper reported that guerrillas, a new type of fighting force, were being organized. Said the ENQUIRER: "These Guerrilla Companies consist always of daring and determined men, genuine bloods, and dissatisfied with an unproductive security . . . they will keep the enemy in a continual state of alarm. They will roam at will behind the enemy lines . . . every man a hero." (This band produced such men as Mosby)

The South was having trouble with its money. Confederate paper money had been printed by engravers . . . and the bills had been easy to counterfeit. The value of the paper money fell rapidly until by May of 1862 a Confederate dollar would buy only about a tenth as much as would a U. S. dollar. The Richmond papers reported that the banks, and even some business firms, of Richmond had issued paper money of their own. These paper bills were called "shinplasters" and were much used as means of exchange. By May of 1862, the same papers reported: "Order against shinpilasters. They must be redeemed. Court orders judgements against various shinpilaster men, none of whom defended themselves."

The EXAMINER also reported various "postoffice frauds" in the newly formed Confederate mail service. In the south at that time the government had not taken over the railroads as had the Federal government in the north. As a result, individual railroad men were not closely supervised. They boosted rates, took bribes for moving personal freight, and said the EXAMINER, committed such frauds as "charging 25c for carrying a letter from Nashville to Corinth."

Other railroad troubles bothered the Confederacy. Within two weeks after the Battle of Shiloh, General Sherman with 2,000 soldiers and the gunboats Lexington and Tyler went up the Tennessee River as far as Bear Creek, Alabama, and destroyed a long stretch of the Memphis and Charleston Railroad. It was now necessary for a traveler from Richmond to Memphis to travel all the way south to Mobile and then back to Memphis.

The newspapers reported that south of Shiloh a group of Union officers met under a flag of truce with some Confederate officers to discuss such matters as prisoner-exchange. One of the Union men complained of the "terrible condition of the roads."

"Yes," said Lt. Harris, a Confederate. "And if you come South you will have to travel the roads twice . . . down and back!"

Fort Pulaski, built by Robert E. Lee to guard Savannah, and deemed "impregnable," was captured by the Union on April 11, 1862. To help the readers of this column understand some of the conditions of life during those times of a hundred years ago, here is a list of the supplies which were captured in Ft. Pulaski:

45,000 lbs. powder.
180 pounds of shot and shell for each cannon.
20,000 rounds of musket and rifle cartridges.
128 barrels of "Mess Beef".
170 barrels of "Mess Pork".
700 barrels of flour and hard bread (hardtack).
60 tierces of rice.
3,000 pounds coffee.
7,000 pounds sugar.

7 barrels vinegar.
660 pounds candles.
800 pounds soap.
35 bushels of dried apples.
2,000 gal molasses.
5 barrels whiskey.
5 bushels of salt.

You may note only 5 bushels of salt were captured. This points up the growing scarcity of salt in the Confederacy. The Richmond EXAMINER reported that at the Virginia Salt works near Marion, Va., the water was so salty that only 75 gal. need be boiled away to get one bushel of salt. At Clark County Springs in Alabama it took 150 gallons, and at Grand River in Arkansas 80 gallons. The Virginia Salt Works were so important to the Confederacy that several Union raids were planned to destroy the works. However, it was not until the last months of the war that the North was successful.

One of the charges against Grant after the capture of Ft. Donaldson was that he allowed a civilian friend to dispose of the captured stores for personal profits. The papers of the time were filled with the account, but evidently whatever was stolen from the stores was without Grant's knowledge.

by
H. D. HAYES
Your Telephone Manager

MOTHER'S DAY is just around the corner, and here's a last minute suggestion . . . wouldn't an extension phone be a nice way to remember Mom? Extension phones—like the pretty princess—put calls at her fingertips in the bedroom, kitchen, den or basement playroom. When the call's for her, she just reaches for the nearest extension and saves time and steps! Just call our business office, or ask any telephone serviceman about the variety of colors and surprisingly low cost.

COME TO THE FAIR! And I'm talking about the Century 21 Exposition in Seattle, April 21 to Oct. 21, 1962. This international show, set in some of America's most spectacular scenery, is the first world's fair held in this country since 1939, and is expected to draw tourists from all parts of the world. If a trip to the Exposition is in your vacation schedule, we'd like to invite you to see the Bell System's exhibit. In keeping with the Fair's theme—a preview of the world of tomorrow—the Bell exhibit will show modern communications equipment and a glimpse of what's ahead for telephone users.

WE GET a lot of strange requests, and one of the most unusual is the one from the woman who called the operator and said, "Will you please ring my telephone? My dog is outside and won't come in. He comes running when he hears the telephone." Ten rings later, she reported back. "Thanks a lot," she said, with the barking of a dog in the background. "He's in now." And that's just one of the many requests we answer every day. Customers sometimes ask us what they should use to clean their telephones. The answer: a damp cloth is all that's needed to keep the phone clean and shining! Soap-and-water treatment is risky since the water may get into the set and put working parts out of order.

A LONG DISTANCE CALL is the next best thing to being there in person . . . so keep in touch the easy, personal way . . . by Long Distance. Call often!

Cotton Allotment Is Transferable, Bard Announces

Roy Bard, Chairman of the Fulton ASC County Committee, states that the Fulton County ASCS Office has received official notice that the 1962 Cotton Allotment that cannot be timely planted or replanted on a farm because of natural disaster may be transferred to another farm, so long as, one or more of the producers on the farm from which the allotment is transferred will be interested in the production of cotton for 1962 on the farm to which the cotton is being transferred and will share in the proceeds thereof.

Mr. Bard urged any farmer in Fulton County, who could qualify under the above and who could secure land on another farm where the acreage could be planted, to please come to the County Office and make application at an early date.

Panama Limited Marks 20 Years Of IC Service

The Panama Limited, queen of the Illinois Central Railroad passenger fleet, marked its 20th anniversary as a streamline train May 3, 1962. During its 20 years of operation between Chicago and New Orleans the Panama has traveled 14,500,000 miles and carried 1,533,000 passengers. It is one of three all-Pullman trains remaining in the United States.

The two sets of Panama equipment which were introduced in 1942 represented an investment of $3,835,000. Since that time many new roomtype sleeping cars and twin-unit diners as well as new diesel locomotives have been added. The Panama Limited was the first train to wear the familiar orange-brown-yellow color combination which now symbolizes Illinois Central passenger service.

Professor Dumas With Deep Regret Community Views Resignation Of

A. Dumas, principal of Rosenwald High School, South Fulton, Tennessee, has accepted the position of principal at West End High School, Fayetteville, Tennessee. West End High is comprised of grades 7 through 12, 'A' rated, and has an enrollment of more than three hundred pupils.

Professor Dumas first came to Fulton in 1932 as Junior High School teacher under the late Prof. J. J. Bills. He resigned in 1935 to become principal of Milton School, Fulton, Ky. During his administration Milton was elevated to the 10th grade level.

In 1942 Dumas resigned at Milton and became Field Scout Executive of the Blue Grass Council, Boy Scouts of America, with headquarters in Lexington, Kentucky. There he remained until he joined the United States Air Force. After two years of military service, he returned to professional scouting as Field Scout Executive of the Egyptian Council, Herrin, Ill.

The school-room appeal again won the decision of Dumas in 1947 and, leaving an outstanding record in scouting, he returned to Fulton as principal of Rosenwald School which was then an elementary school. During Dumas' administration Rosenwald was elevated to an approved senior high school. Modern well-equipped Home Economics, Science, and Industrial Arts Departments were added. Prof. and Mrs. Dumas were re-elected but declined their present positions. Mrs. Dumas has been offered a position at Fayetteville also.

The Dumas are well-known residents of this community, highly respected by the leading citizens of both races. They will move to Fayetteville, Tennessee prior to the next school term. Though the opportunities and advantages in the new field seem far greater for them, they have made it known that it is with mixed emotions that they leave the many white and colored friends they have made during their long residence in this community.

State Board Accepts City's Airport Zoning

Philip L. Swift, Kentucky commissioner of aeronautics and chairman of the Kentucky Airport Zoning Commission, has announced that the zoning plan submitted by the Fulton Airport Board for the zoning of Fulton Municipal Airport at Fulton has been accepted by the Commission.

Swift explained that zoning of an airport involves the designation of an area above and adjacent to the runway as protected air space and banning erection of structures above a certain height which would penetrate into the air space. The height permitted varies at different airports and also depends on the distance of the structure from the landing strip.

"The zoning of an airport is not only for the obvious reasons of safety," Swift said, "but also as a protection of the community's investment in the airport." Swift added that nine other Kentucky airports were zoned in the recent board action. "We hope to have all municipal airports in Kentucky zoned by June 1, 1962," he said.

Miss Speight, daughter of Jack Speight, 303 Fourth Street, Fulton, is a freshman in the UK College of Education. She was graduated from Fulton High School.

Gerald Richardson, Director of the Training Union, said the early meeting time will be an aid to the continued growth of the church.

The church has made the early time a part of the regular schedule. There are three worship services each Sunday at 8:30 a. m., 10:55 a. m., and 6:00 p. m. The Sunday School meets at 9:45 a. m. The public is invited to attend all the services.

Around and About Our Town

By Ruby Neisler

A cheery good morning to everyone.

We wish to express our thanks for the wonderful and efficient service the Kentucky Utilities has given us throughout the years. It is with sadness that we see our workmen and citizens leave our city. We wish them much success in their new endeavor.

We extend a hearty welcome to Mr. Mortiz of Halls, Tennessee, who comes to us as our manager. Our best wishes to him and all the others who are connected with the local transfer of the electric facilities.

Congratulations to Dr. Art Rudd, who celebrated his ninth birthday on Sunday April 29th. Many happy returns of the day Dr. Rudd.

Bro. Jerrell Aldridge spent the weekend in Fulton and preached at the Smith St. Church of Christ Sunday night.

My sister, Mrs. Ethel Hay of Union City very quietly celebrated her 79th birthday, April 26. She and I wish to thank Gene Gardner for the beautiful song and the nice things he said to her. She received a number of cards and gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hay and Mrs. Virginia Hay of Pierce visited her. Also Mrs. Martha Boulton. I rode over with her and carried my sister a beautiful vase of flowers. I had to stay in the car. She is a hut-in, but did get to the window and speak to me.

The long looked for day came for Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Taylor and Mrs. Eddie Nall, when they moved into their new home last Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jolly had them over for dinner on that day. We are so happy Mrs. Jolly is home from the hospital and can enjoy the new home.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Speight and to their daughter, Miss Ophelia Speight, who has recently been presented at the Annual "Stars in the Night" honor program at the University

Older Scouts Prove Themselves Real Explorers In Busy April Schedule

The month of April was indeed a busy month for the boys of Explorer Post 43. Of the four weekends in the month, the past made a trip every weekend except Easter weekend.

The first trip was a three and a half day visit to Shiloh National Park near Corinth, Mississippi. This was made during the KEA vacation. The occasion was the one hundredth anniversary of the Battle of Shiloh which was fought during the War Between the States. The battle was fought on April 6 and 7, 1862. The anniversary celebration was highlighted by approximately six thousand Boy Scouts and Explorers who were there to walk the Shiloh Commemorative Trail. The twenty-three Fulton post members and two leaders walked three of the six offered trails and received the three awards.

The second trip was a visit to the Naval Air Station at Millington, Tennessee. This was a two-day trip on Saturday and Sunday, April 14 and 15. The fifteen boys and two leaders making the trip arrived on Friday and stayed on the upper floor of one of the barracks. The meals were eaten in the mess halls with the rest of the officers and men. The boys were conducted on a complete tour of the base, including the central tower, the hangars, the aviation schools, cafeterias, gym, swimming pool, supply depots, the barracks, and the flight line. The boys also went to the show Saturday night and visited the radio shack.

The third and final trip of the month was to the annual Scout-O-Rama held at Paducah, Kentucky. This jaunt was made on Saturday and Sunday, April 29 and 30. The Fulton Explorer Post was well represented by fourteen boys and three leaders. The explorers of the whole Four Rivers Council had their booths along one aisle, each post having a project representing one of the six areas of Exploring. These are Personal Fitness, Service, Vocational, Social, Outdoor, and Citizenship. The Fulton Explorer Post had the social topic as its project. The booth emphasized dancing, popular music, and other social aspects. The boys pitched their tents outside the Burley Mart where the event was held. The whole Scout-O-Rama was a huge success and the Fulton booth received a blue ribbon rating.

All three trips for April were well attended and extremely enjoyed by all. Several other projects and trips are in the planning stages for the future.

Wheat growers who have received notices of excess wheat acreage have until May 20, 1962 to dispose of the acreage in accordance with program provisions, Navel Seals, Chairman, Obion County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, has announced. If this is not done, the excess wheat will be subject to marketing quota penalties, for 1962, are much larger than in former years.

The Chairman stressed the fact that many more wheat growers will be subject to marketing quotas this year. This is caused by a change in the law which eliminated the 15-acre marketing quota exemption for the 1962 wheat crop.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Lewis of Lexington, Kentucky, were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Gurley and Jimmy.

My last week and Sunday visitors were Mrs. Virginia Hay of Pierce; Mrs. R. Elam, Mrs. Louis Sensing, Mrs. Jerald Underwood, Mrs. Martha Boulton and Glenda. Mrs. Leonard Hagan and Mrs. L. J. Clements visited in the afternoon. Mrs. Hagan and Mrs. Clements also visited Mrs. C. C. Croft Sunday afternoon.

We are glad little Ronnie Brockwell is home from the Jones Hospital and is doing nicely.

Talked with Mr. and Mrs. George Winter Saturday afternoon. They were doing very well.

We are so happy that Mrs. John Binkley was able to drive her car to church last Sunday. It is such a joy to talk with Mrs. Binkley, she is such a cheerful person. She informed me she was working out in the yard today.

In a note to Mrs. Binkley, Mrs. Lena Hutcherson said she was slowly improving and could get out in the yard just a little. I am sure her many friends will be glad to hear this.

The members of Mrs. Binkley's Sunday school class were glad to welcome Miss Maud Morris, who has been visiting in Louisville for some time. We welcome you home, Miss Maud.

See you next week.

The third and final trip of the month was to the annual Scout-O-Rama held at Paducah, Kentucky. This jaunt was made on Saturday and Sunday, April 29 and 30. The Fulton Explorer Post was well represented by fourteen boys and three leaders. The explorers of the whole Four Rivers Council had their booths along one aisle, each post having a project representing one of the six areas of Exploring. ## Senior Life Is Exciting & Fun

From The FHS Kennel

By LINDA WHITNEL

Being a senior is exciting! The fun of publishing an annual, the honor of sitting on the left in study hall during assemblies, the joy we felt when we received our senior pictures, the fun it was when we were asked to run errands for one of the teachers. All these things have had their place in making the senior year seem some seniorish.

Even though the last year in high school has this pleasant side there is much more to it than merely having certain privileges. Many more things must be considered. A senior has to be able to accept responsibilities, he must set a good example for the other students at FHS, and at the same time he must keep his class work up to par. There are many responsibilities involved in being an officer in a club and this honor is usually given to seniors. Planning programs, taking minutes, and keeping accurate books are just a few of the requirements of an officer. We seniors also have responsibilities toward the Kennel staff, the teachers, and ourselves.

Being a senior means acting like a senior. A senior is expected to possess and display the very highest of ideals. He is now old enough to make most, if not all, of his decisions and thus must think wisely before making hasty ones. Of course the high ideals are supposed to be exhibited by all students but a little more should be expected of a senior. These good examples should not be put away when we walk out of the high school building. At basketball, baseball, and football games it is the senior's responsibility to set the standards of behavior for all other students to follow.

The third and last responsibility of a senior is to keep up his classwork inspite of all other distractions. This is perhaps the hardest one of the three to do.

FHS Literature Students Present Original Program

From The FHS Kennel

The Drama and Literature Department of the Fulton Woman's Club met Tuesday, April 16, at the club home. Mrs. Robert Batts, program leader, presented a most unusual and original program by Mrs. Charles Burrow and a group of her literature students of Fulton High School.

The students gave samples of their work in literature this year. Jimmy Wright showed sketches he had done; one in crayon of Macbeth and Lady Macbeth; a pen and ink of "The Old Man"; a pencil sketch of the "Three Witches" and a pen and wash of Lady MacDuff. He also showed a linoleum print.

Danny Carver showed his illustration of the witch scene in Macbeth, a scene of the death of MacDuff's son, and a sketch of Macbeth. He also showed two unique pictures done "with egg shells."

Kay Morris displayed dolls that she had made of the three witches of Macbeth and read a theme called "Button, Button."

Barry Roper and Lynn Williamson read one of their "Tall Tales" themes. Barry's theme was entitled "The Strange Journey" and Lynn's, "A Trip on the B-B-B."

Carolinda Hales read four poems she had composed entitled "A Gypsy Soul", "Maybe", "Drifting Through", and "Reflection."

Lynn Williamson concluded the program by describing the setting at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, on the occasion of the dedication of the cemetery there. He followed by reciting the "Gettysburg address" as delivered by Abraham Lincoln on that occasion.

State Parks Facilities Open On May 15th

Cottage, lodge and dining room accommodations in Kentucky's State Parks will be opened May 15. Parks Commissioner Edward V. Fox has announced.

Cottages will be available at Cherokee, Pennyrile, Audubon, General Butler, Natural Bridge, Pine Mountain and Carter Caves State Parks. Lodges and dining rooms will be opened at Pine Mountain, Pennyrile and Natural Bridge State Parks. General Butler State Park has a dining room that will also open on that May date.

Four state parks — Kentucky Dam Village, Kentucky Lake, Cumberland Falls and Lake Cumberland — remain open year-round offering cottage, lodge and dining room facilities. The boat dock and vacation cottages are available year-round at Jenny Wiley State Park.

In addition to these facilities, six new lodges and two new lodge additions are under construction and will be finished during the vacation season this year. Additions are at Pennyrile and Pine Mountain State Parks, while new lodges are being built at Rough River, Carter Caves, Jenny Wiley, Lake Cumberland, Kentucky Dam Village and General Butler State Parks.

Tent camping areas and museums and shrines are already open for the season.

Sources Say Commissioners Grooming Tripp To Succeed Baxter As Manager

The appointment of Nelson Tripp as acting city manager to fulfill the duties of the office when R. B. Baxter is away from the city was made at a called meeting of the City Commission last Friday night. A source close to City Hall told the News that the move can be construed as an attempt to groom Mr. Tripp to fill the position at the expiration of Mr. Baxter's trial six-month period of employment as city manager. Mr. Baxter is paid $500 a month.

Commissioner Bill Rice and Bob McCain who signed the official call to the meeting advised Mayor Gilbert DeMyer that the meeting was necessary to transact routine business. Mayor DeMyer did not attend the meeting, nor did he sign the official call, stating that he thought all business transacted at the Friday night meeting could have been attended to at the regular meeting. The regular meeting was postponed from May 7 to May 14, since Mr. Baxter would be away from the city. Mr. Baxter is reportedly due back in Fulton on May 15, the day after the postponed meeting.

Clarence Moline, serving as mayor pro tem, presided at the meeting. Commissioners are paid extra for a called meeting.

It is a known fact among sources close to the City Commission that sharp disagreements on city policy prevail among the officials. Baxter has reportedly been sharply opposed to Commissioner Rice on occasions. It was the strong coalition between Commissioners Rice and McCain that influenced the appointment of Mr. Tripp to fill out the unexpired term of L. M. McBride as City Commissioner.

The Commission has voted to allow the city manager $35 a month for car expense, plus eight cents a mile on out-of-town trips in the interests of the city.

Upon recommendation of James L. Robey, finance specialist with the Department of Economic Development, the commission authorized the city manager to ask Morris A. Lee, who audits the city books, and Mr. Robey to meet here on May 15 to discuss the change to the double-entry system.

Fulton High Has Various Changes In '63 Schedule

From the FHS "Kennel"

There have been a few changes in the schedule for next year. Physical science will take the place of general science. It will be offered the 4th period and chemistry will be moved to 3rd period. General science will be discontinued because there is a strong general science course in Junior High. Mr. Bobby Snider will teach physical science.

Speech and reading will be offered the 4th period under the direction of Mrs. Haws. Each subject has been made a half year course. These subjects will be offered to the juniors and seniors, but if there is an opening a sophomore may take them.

There will be two classes of advanced algebra. One class will be held the first period and will be taught all year. The other class will be held during second period and will be taught for one semester. Mr. Babb will teach both classes.

Because of the large class of seniors there will be two different sections of English. One class will meet first hour and the other sixth hour. Mrs. Burrow will teach these classes.

Mr. Bill Robertson, on leave this year, will be back next fall to teach mechanical drawing and the other shop courses.

There will be no athletic activities held on school nights except those that have already been contracted.

Effects Of Alcohol Discussed By Doctor

Dr. Robert Peterson, now associated with the Fulton Hospital, gave a very interesting program on "The Effects of Alcohol and Narcotics on the Body" at an assembly period on April 12 at 1:30 p. m. He discussed the various forms of drugs, how they may be obtained, and their dangers to the body. He especially emphasized the effect of marijuana, which is more commonly obtained in the form of cigarettes. He also gave statistics on alcoholism and the reasons which lead many people to become alcoholics.

This program was carried out in observance of Temperance Week, which is set aside by the government each year.

DERBY TIME

joy the occasion with some local folks too. Sara and Ward Bushart, Monira and Foad Homra and Louise and Bob Binford were there. Louis Cox, a Frankfort attorney told me a good story about Bob at the William Mayes' Sunday morning breakfast in Frankfort.

Louis said that Bob walked up to him and reminded him of their college days and Louis said (facetiously) he told Bob it was impossible to say they were former college mates. Said Louis: "That fellow couldn't have been my room-mate, he didn't have much hair." (Louis Cox has even less hair than Bob, so they enjoyed reminiscing and turning back the pages of time.)

About noon we took off in a four-car caravan for Louisville and the Derby and the closer I got the more excited I became. I had been to Churchill Downs once before, but believe me it's nothing like being there on Derby Day. Over a 100,000 people were there and reportedly it was the largest crowd ever to attend a Derby. I rubber-necked so much looking and gapping at all the sights I think Paul got right embarrassed. I couldn't help it!

The Welch's box was a few boxes removed from where we were sitting so we all took turns about sitting around with each other. You can imagine my delight at going over to the Welch box and finding Judge and Mrs. Charles Dawson and their daughter Mrs. McDonald Gray of Anchorage in the box next to the Welch's.

It was a little unnecessary for me to introduce the Dawsons and the Welch's for they had already exchanged those amenities and were all having a fine time enjoying the Derby. When I got home I called Eleanor Huddleston and told her about the pleasant experience and she said she attended her first Derby when she was thirteen. She said that first Derby is always the great one and I can well imagine. Eleanor is formerly from Louisville and has been on hand many times for the big running.

We were so privileged to walk across the field to the winner's horse shoe right before that big seventh race and we viewed the

600 East Broadway. It treats handicapped children from 11 Kentucky and Southern Indiana counties. This therapy has helped young patients improve enough to attend school and some have even gone on to college, according to Rev. Roger G. Imhoff, executive director of the Center.

Derby running from there, atop the viewing stand on the finish line. When Willie Hardack came up for his garland of roses and the Governor to present the trophy we were in the view of the NBC television camera and Mary Jo and R. Paul were excited to death when they spotted me in the circle around the owner of "Decidedly" (the winner) and other dignitaries.

Eddie Arcaro was being a special TV broadcast for the winning ceremonies and we walked back across to our box with him and "Decidedly's" trainer, a wonderful individual from Australia who had tears in his eyes during the whole ceremony, and no wonder!

After the trophy presentation we went to the Director's room of Churchill Downs and then to the traditional party given by the officials for the winner's party and others. When someone told me that it would be the most fantastic party we ever attended I didn't know what to expect. And if I had, I would have dropped dead. There's that word again...

Besides the food and drink, (champagne, juleps, and everything in between... turkey, ham, shrimp in bucketsfull) the guest list kept me from eating. I just looked and marvelled. Mark and Willie Snow Etheridge had as their houseguests the Walter Cronkites, (he of TV fame) and the Barry Bingham had Sir David and Mrs. Ormsby-Gore, the British Ambassador to the United States. We were invited to a very late Saturday night party at the Etheridges but had to decline, because of other commitments around the city and in Frankfort. Paul and Mr. Cronkite renewed some old friendships of St. Joseph, Missouri, for that's where the famous commentator lived before his advent into the big time. Art James was there as was Don Ameche, Bryan Field, the gent who has been broadcasting the Derby for 20 years, and many others of national importance. Poor little me.

After the Churchill Downs party we went over to the home of our long-time friend Helen Rechten, the Louisville architect, and her house, as you can imagine, is out of this world. We couldn't stay there very long, because we had to be on our way to Frankfort, where the younger folks (Lois and Martha Ann) were on to other parties around Frankfort and Lexington.

To say that it didn't take any lullabies to get us to sleep Saturday night is the understatement of the year. We were pooped, but eagerly looking forward to Sunday when we were to attend a party at Spentrift, the magnificent horse farm of the Leslie Combses.

Well, I want you to know that I've been writing for a long time, but it's impossible for me to tell you about Spentrift in words. To tell you the truth I can't even tell you about it verbally, without losing my breath. You've seen these pictures of the rolling hills and the beautiful horse farms of the Bluegrass region, but to see and visit in one of them is another thing.

I cannot begin to tell you of the beauty and the splendor of the home and the grounds surrounding the Leslie Combs estate, but I think you will enjoy an experience I had there.

The Governor and Mrs. Combs and Lois and Martha Ann went ahead a little bit earlier and Paul and I and Ned Breathitt followed in another car later. When we got there, the others in our party were walking around the grounds and viewing those magnificent horses in the stables, and we walked onto a grass terrace where about a dozen people were sitting on lawn chairs, viewing a parade of the most beautiful horse flesh I ever saw. We were introduced to a lovely lady who was making notes in one of the newest brochures put out by Spentrift and her name was Mrs. Knight.

We talked amiably there for a few minutes and she told me that the name of her stable in Chicago was "Fourth Estate." Well, you know that had a connotation of newspapering and I asked her if they were in the newspaper business and she answered that they were. I proudly told her that we were too, but she didn't make any comment, probably because if we had been in their category of newspaper publishing she might have known us. Then all of a sudden the little light in my brain lit up, bright and clear. "Knight... Fourth Estate... Chicago..." Of course it was Mrs. John S. Knight of the huge Knight newspaper chain... Miami Herald, Detroit Free-Press, Chicago Daily News. I sort of changed the subject quick-like for if she had asked me what newspaper we owned and I had to admit the weekly Fulton County News, that would have been the living end.

So I discreetly turned around in my chair and the lady sitting on the other side of me introduced herself as Kay Field. She was a lovely, chic, gracious lady and she too was studying that brochure. She made conversation with me and I learned that she and her husband owned the Fourth Estate stables with the Knights. She was also from Chicago and again the little light in my brain sparkled and I thought if she asks me about our newspaper I'll just konk out.

And in case you're wondering about Kay, you are right! She was Mrs. Marshall Field, Jr. and is a horse-lover from way back. The Knights, the Fields, the P. A. B. Wideners and a group of others were the houseguests of the Combses at Spentrift for the Derby.

When they were viewing all those handsome yearlings and making notes on the little brochure like, 40 to 100, or 75 to 250, I thought what the heck, they must be having their own little Kentucky Derby and they're making bets. I couldn't stand it any longer so I said to Mrs. Field: "You know it's better to be thought a fool than to open your mouth and remove all doubt, so I'm going to remove the doubt. What are those figures you're making on that pamphlet?" By the time I asked the question I had come to learn that they were friendly, gracious people and seemed real glad to visit with us.

Said Mrs. Field: "Leslie Combs is having an auction of yearlings in July and he's nice enough to give us a preview of the horses he will auction. I'm just making a note," said she, "of what we ought to bid. For that horse (a descendant of Nashua) the bid will be between $75,000 and $250,000.00."

Well, that did it! I got up from the horse-authority-circle and walked over to the patio where a string ensemble was playing away for the guests. I asked quickly for a mint julep and just kept looking at that mint and julep. I know something about mint, I thought, it grows in our back yard, it's a perennial, somebody gave me some one time, and it didn't cost a cent.

I was glad our party couldn't tarry there for more than an hour. I was still afraid those folks were going to talk newspaper to us. I felt that if I had to tell them it takes us a week to put out from eight to twelve pages, when they put out millions of pages and copies a day, I'd just fall flat on my face. Ole Paul, he just stands around and enjoys talking with folks about industry, the Bluegrass adaptability to horse breeding, and keeps giving me a "poor thing" glance with a glint in his eye, thinking "Jo can't talk her way out of the trap she's in." I didn't try. I just kept quiet and you know what an effort that is for me.

After the Combs party we went to the another lovely country estate out Frankfort way. Betsy and Bill May invited us to their traditional Sunday morning Derby breakfast and it was such fun. Bill and Margaret Curlin were there and lots of other folks we knew and it seems the rain held off long enough for most of the guests to have their delicious country ham meal on the sprawling lawn of that wonderful home. The rain did bring havoc to the annual barbecue at The Forest, in Anchorage near Louisville. Hundreds of people were gathered there eating and visiting when that tremendous down-pour came up Sunday and all of us had a good laugh when we met a lot of our mutual friends who were drenched to the skin, but as luck would have it, and as Colonel Ann Field announced, just as the Governor walked in, so did the sun. That is some luck at leading a interesting event.

An all-Negro singing group, the "Singing Stars of the Bluegrass," dressed in costumes indicative of wonderful Kentucky hospitality. That famous Burgo is a descendant of a famous horse, and here again, as Mrs. Bryan Field, the Derby grounds-keeper, extremely competent Scotsman, and I kidded him about coming to work for WFUL. He said the $115 an hour I offered him was about $50,000 a year less than he was accustomed to making, but he'd consider it. (Big joke, but fun.)

The sun was beginning to lower on that beautiful Sunday afternoon in that lovely tree-studded forest and it meant that it was time for leave-taking to home. I couldn't believe that so many wonderful hours had been crowded into so short a span of time, but they had. Reluctantly I bade farewell to Governor and Mrs. Combs, because I just couldn't begin to tell them how grateful we were for the wonderful invitation to share the Derby excitement as their houseguests. I will see the Combses again soon, but it was even harder to say goodbye to that wonderful young lady, Martha Ann Field, (now Colonel Field) from Virginia.

I think the Derby would not have been so much fun if it was not for the wonderful hospitality of the Leslie Combses and the other guests. I will see the Combses again soon, but it was even harder to say goodbye to that wonderful young lady, Martha Ann Field, (now Colonel Field) from Virginia.

Please don't think me overbearing for writing all this. If you've read this far, I know you were interested in my most memorable experience. If you haven't gotten this far, you weren't interested, so that makes us even.

No wonder the Kentucky Derby is the most fabulous (that's it) racing event of all time. It comes by the distinction naturally.

CHESTNUT GLADE

Mrs. Harvey Vaughan

The Cancer Crusade is almost completed in this community, even though there are yet some who have not had an opportunity to contribute. It is most encouraging when contributions are sent to the workers, by persons before they have been contacted. Anyone who has not been at home when the worker called, may send their contribution to any worker in each community. In the 17th district, Mrs. Roy Watts, Mrs. Jimmie Westbrooks, Mrs. Johnnie Lee Simpson, Mrs. V. C. Simpson and Mrs. Harvey Vaughan. In the 13th district, Mrs. Ray Bondurant, Mrs. Travis Dacus, Mrs. Ed Cashion, Mrs. Beulah Bailey, and Mrs. Doyle Bowlin, are the workers who will appreciate any contribution to this most worthy cause.

Several members of the Chestnut Glade Club enjoyed a visit to the Arts and Crafts Train in Fulton last Thursday.

Mrs. Orvin Morrison and Mrs. Harvey Vaughan were among the friends who visited Miss Flora Oliver on her birthday last Thursday. Her many friends will be glad to know that Miss Flora is much improved and that she was able to go with Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey for a drive last Sunday. They carried her to her old home place which is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Reed then to Duke-Old Bethel, Oak Grove and to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cannon. It would not be possible for one who has never been a shutin for months, to understand how much Miss Flora enjoyed this trip at this beautiful time in the year. Then on Wednesday she spent the day in the home of Mrs. Myrtle Temple. She has hopes of enjoying many more such pleasant visits.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Nix from Texas are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nix and other relatives and friends in the community.

Mr. and Mrs. Cubert Malony from Trimble and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Overcast and father from Rives were Sunday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Brundige.

Mr. and Mrs. William Woodson and children and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vaughan were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bondurant.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin House and children from Memphis visited relatives here last weekend.

Mrs. Lucy Gibbs is visiting her niece Mrs. Ralph McKnight and family in Sheffield, Alabama.

David Reed attended the State F. F. A. Convention in Knoxville last week. It was certainly a surprise to Mrs. Harvey Vaughan when she got to the Hotel in Knoxville, for the Tennessee Library Association Convention to see David.

T. L. A. Members enjoyed a very pleasant meeting in Knoxville last week. Among the highlights of the Convention was the address by Mrs. Weldon Lynch using as her subject, "Promises to Keep." This address certainly would inspire any civic minded person. Mrs. Lynch from Oakdale, Louisiana is President of the American Library Trustees Association. Dr. Andy Holt was also one of the speakers. A special pleasure was the tour to the different libraries and the Sequoia Dogwood Trail which is most beautiful at this time.

Another special pleasure was the opportunity to spend the two nights while in Knoxville with the Darrel Wrights, and a visit to the school that Mike attends and where June teaches one of the three first grade groups.

Friends are very happy to see Mrs. Will Reed able to be out again after being a shutin for the past several months.

Research Studies Reveal Emotions Cause Accidents

Research studies on car accidents show that a few people have most of the accidents. Most people have no accidents. In other words a few people are "accident prone". Accident prone people are more likely to have accidents than other people would be under the same circumstances. Statistical records of accidents show that the person who has had two accidents is more likely to have a third than the person who has never had an accident is likely to have even one accident. There are several reasons for this.

1. Some people use the car as a means of getting rid of their feelings and of hostility toward others.
2. Another group of people get a thrill out of defying the rules of society when driving.
3. Another group have accidents because they use the car as a way to get rid of tension.
4. A fourth and very large group who have accidents are those who have been drinking.
5. Another group of accident prone people are those who are self-centered and unable to think of other people.

6. The accident prone person does not have a periodic check-up on his car to see that his stop light, brakes, headlights, and horn are working.

When you learn to drive, check yourself on how you use the car. If you find that you are using it as an outlet for some of your emotions, try to find a safer outlet. You need not be a hazard on the highway.

Chester Caddas, "Coach Of Year," Receives MSC Science Scholarship

Coach Chester Caddas, who was voted "Coach of the Year," contemplates his successful basketball season as he enjoys the spring weather.

From the FHS "Kennel"

The "Bulldogs" winning of the regional basketball championship earned Chester Caddas the "Coach-of-the-Year" honor in a sport that he had never played and had never been head coach in until he accepted the Fulton City job two years ago.

Born in Memphis, Tennessee, he went through the first six grades there, and then moved to Martin. At Martin High School he played football and baseball and was one of the co-captains of the football team in his senior year. While in high school, he was president of his senior class and was a letterman in the M-club, a club for boys and girls who letter in any type sport.

In his junior year Mr. Caddas went to Boys State. Upon graduation from Martin High School, he attended the University of Mississippi for one year. He then transferred to Murray State College and played football and was a member of the track team for two years.

In 1956 while a junior at Murray state, he married. After graduation in January of 1957, he taught the following week at Popular Bluff, Mo. to finish the semester.

In the summer he went back to Murray to work and the next fall he went to Harrisburg, Illinois, to teach. In the two years he was at Harrisburg, Mr. Caddas for two summers and one night a week during the school year drove to the University of Indiana to study.

After this Mr. Caddas went to Louisville, Kentucky, where he was assistant football and golf coach at Waggoner County High School. After a year's coaching at Waggoner, he came to Fulton High where he is presently teaching and coaching.

Coach Caddas and his wife now reside in Country Club Courts. They have two children, Lynn, 5, and Chris, 2 1-2.

CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WASHINGTON, D. C.

May 10, 1962

Dear Fellow Kentuckians,

For the past three and one-half years it has been my privilege to serve you in the United States Congress. I am now asking for your help and support in my campaign for re-election as your Representative in Washington.

I come from a family of farmers and merchants and before entering public service in 1951, was a small businessman in Murray. The opportunity this gave me to become acquainted at first hand with business and farming has helped me greatly in understanding matters of interest and opportunities available to the people of Western Kentucky.

My experience in the House of Representatives has afforded me up-to-date insight into our national legislative problems. As a member of the House Committee on Agriculture I have been active in support of the tobacco program and other agricultural programs essential to our economic stability. I have worked with other Committees and in the House Chamber to promote low cost power, increased development of our water resources, and greater utilization of our natural resources is the best investment we can make toward growth and stability for our region, and I would like the opportunity to continue my efforts to this end.

I have worked with local civic groups and organizations in attracting industry to our area and in obtaining Federal cooperation and assistance to help depressed areas and provide increased economic opportunity for our people. I have cooperated with everyone who has requested my help on personal matters in endeavoring in every way possible to alleviate hardships, correct injustices, and serve as their liaison with the Federal Government.

As your Congressman, I have served all the people of the First District to the best of my ability and have tried to represent you as I believe you wish to be represented. I hope my efforts meet with your approval. If you feel that I merit your support and cast your vote for me on May 29, I shall be most grateful.

Sincerely yours,

Frank A. Stubblefield

Lawson Explains Selective Service For FHS Boys

From the FHS "Kennel"

Recently Lena M. Lawson, clerk of the local draft board, and Fred Homra, a representative of the local board from Fulton, visited Fulton High School and talked with the boys who are 81 or nearing 18. They represented the Local Selective Service Board which is located at Hickman.

They gave the requirements for registering for the draft. A boy must register within 5 days after his 18th birthday or he is subject to a fine and possibly a prison term.

To register, a boy is required to go to the Local Board office in his county and a clerk will assist with his registration. He should take a copy of his birth certificate to supply any necessary vital information.

After talking with the boys, these representatives answered questions representing specific problems of the students. They told us to be sure to have the college of our choice report our grades so that we would be deferred from entering the military until after graduation.

They urged anyone who is not planning to enter college upon graduating to consult them about fulfilling their military obligations.

Q&S Has Final Meeting Of Year

From the FHS "Kennel"

The last meeting of the Quill and Scroll was called to order by the 1962 president, Wanda Cash. The new members were welcomed and the minutes of the last meeting were read by Cleta Beggs.

The new officers were elected. They are the following: president, Martha DeMyer; vice-president, Carolinda Hales; secretary-treasurer, Mary Bondurant; and program committee chairman, Barry Roper.

Then the meeting was turned over to Kay Morris, program chairman. Kay's topic was "Journalism as a Career" in which she told of the fields of journalism as a future career. An essay was read by Lynn Williamson entitled "Priesthood of the Press."

Lower Prices Given Russians Oil-Sale Edge

Washington — Soviet Union oil exports to the free world have risen since 1954 until now Russia supplies about 9 percent of Western Europe's oil needs in exchange for machinery, steel, and hard currencies.

Price is a big factor. Russia can sell to Japan for $1 a barrel the same kind of oil the West sells for $1.80. Finland buys for $2.39 Soviet oil comparable to Iran's $3.33 oil. And West Germany buys from Russia at $3.48 the same quality of light fuel that Britain sells for $4.56.

Bouble Talk

From the FHS "Kennel"
By SANDRA & WANDA

Class and club officers have been elected for the coming school year. Those filling the various offices are as follows: Barry Roper, senior president; Duane McAllister, junior president; Terry Williamson, sophomore president; Wayne Lohaus, freshman president; and Martha DeMyer, president of the FHS and the Quill and Scroll.

Have you heard the echoes of the great FHS choir singing along with Mandel? This choir can be heard on every second Monday afternoon from 1:30 to 2 o'clock. The favorite song of the students seems to be "Dixie".

Congratulations to Don Burnette and Kenneth Allen for receiving honorable mention on the All-

State basketball team. Best of luck to our newly formed baseball team! We hope that everyone will support these boys and go see the games.

Were you on the jury that banned Bad English from the halls of Fulton High School? This was done in a hilarious play presented by the sophomore English class under the direction of Mrs. Burrow.

Fulton High School was represented at the annual Strawberry Festival on May 4 by the FHS band. They also marched in the Clean-Up Parade.

"Onus sublevaverunper" (they raised the burden) when the seniors turned in their research themes on April 30. After about a month of hard work, the day of relief finally came. The topics ranged from the origin of golf to American jazz to soy beans and their uses.

As the time draws near for the end of school, it is a time of happiness for the underclassmen, but a time of both sorrow and happiness for the seniors. This year holds many fond memories for all of us. Remember the night that we beat South Fulton and all

Rat Pack Racks Up Sad Sacks

From the FHS "Kennel"

On Monday April 2, 1962, the known mouse population of Fulton High School increased by eight. All of these eight should be black even though many people were looking for one or two white mice in the group.

There should be some white mice in the F2 or second generation offspring. The white mice would result in a cross between the first generation offspring which are black.

It seems as if the mice will be good for something. A certain class intends to learn more about "mouse anatomy" as they perform operations on several of the mice. This would be profitable in that a new offspring arises frequently and also much could be learned.

There are certain problems in the mice colony. The mice are very difficult to keep clean and completely odorless. However, to try to eliminate the problem, the first offspring has been placed in a large steel cage. The mice are being fed a form of dog food which seems to be pleasing to their appetite.

Bill Leneave fed and cared for them while Barry, Bill, and Mr. Snider were away on spring vacations.

FLASH!!! Eight of the mice being raised by Barry Roper with the help of the science classes escaped on Tuesday, May 2, 1962, during one of the morning classes. They were caught during physics class that afternoon by Bill Leneave and Stanley Jeffress. They were temporarily placed in a wastebasket until a tighter cage the pep that we had during the District and Regional Tournaments. Of course, the trip to the State Tournament will never be forgotten. These fond memories will never be forgotten by the twenty-four seniors who will graduate on May 24.

FHS Classes Have Intriguing Projects

From the FHS "Kennel"

Several classes of FHS have been working on special projects in the last few weeks, which might be of interest to the student body.

Having studied poetry, Mrs. Steele's Freshman English class made booklets on their favorite poems or poems of certain authors, certain subjects or seasons. They are now studying Great Expectations by Charles Dickens.

Presently, Mrs. Burrow's Sophomore English Class is studying clear and effective sentences. Recently they gave a play emphasizing correct English.

The Junior English class has written original poems modeled upon the epitaph of Edgar Lee Master's SPOON RIVER ANTHOLOGY. They are now studying Modern American poetry by doing choral reading and listening to records.

Having finished the trig book the trigonometry class has made use of the surveying instruments and are now studying the basic principles of calculus.

The mechanical drawing class have finished their house plans and are working on ideas booklets containing information on architecture and interior design.

Clerk Of Court Finds He Has Wrong Jury

Buffalo, N. Y.—"Ladies and gentlemen, please answer to your names," said a clerk to a jury seated before Supreme Court Justice Reid S. Moule.

The clerk then read off a series of names and got no response from the jurors.

"Oh, I'm not here," the clerk gazed, "wrong jury."

AUSTIN SPRINGS

Mrs. Carey Fields

Mrs. Maud Vincent of Dukedom, Tennessee is a patient in Jones Clinic receiving treatment and we are sending get-well wishes that she may soon recover and return home.

The condition of Billie Mac Harris remains grave, according to the last report received by relatives in this area. The family is at his bedside.

Rev. James Holt and daughter, Sandra attended the youth rally held in Dresden, Tennessee last Tuesday night. A fine attendance was had from all the churches of Weakley County.

The epidemic of measles, prevalent around here, has subsided and all victims are now able to be out again.

News reached relatives here of the death of Frank Bynum, veteran of World War I, which came after several weeks illness. He was a life long citizen of this district, a retired farmer and a member of the Old Bethel Baptist Church. Mr. Bynum was a patient in Veteran Hospital in Nashville, Tennessee.

The deceased is survived by his companion, a son, B. F. Bynum and a daughter, Mrs. Ralph Dorn of Huntsville, Alabama, two nephews James Charlie and Max Berryman Bynum.

Funeral services are incomplete at this writing. We extend heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family.

The public sale held at the late Ed Fields home last Thursday May 3, was attended by a large crowd. The sale was all the household furnishings, kitchen equipment. Col. Charlie Burrow was the auctioneer.

News from the Rev. Charles Vincent are now favorable. The young minister, pastor of Reidland Baptist Church suffered a siege of rheumatic fever a few weeks ago requiring some hospitalization and his friends will be glad to hear of his rapid recovery.

Mr. Lee Perry returned home from the veterans hospital in Nashville, Tennessee last week after his physical check-up time.

The writer enjoyed the writing of Bill Powell of Paducah Sun Democrat last week when he wrote of the drought of 1930. Well do I remember that year when everything was most a failure. No one received any profits from crops, gardens, etc., until late autumn. Then when the year of 31 came every farmer was twice, or maybe thrice rewarded for their new look on life, crops were abundant all around this area. Somehow more humbleness was shown and 'tis good to live close to God at all times.

For this writer I look first to the crocus in the spring and about as beautiful to me is when crocus burst forth, sometimes under a few inches of snow the tiny things get ready to make us happy.

The Reverend Dean Doster, young minister of Gleason, Tennessee, preached at New Salem Baptist Church last Sunday instead of the Reverend James Holt, the pastor. He delivered a fine sermon and a good attendance was had.

EXODUS

By Leon Uris

Reviewed by Sara Jane Poe
Leon Uris's gripping novel, Exodus, portrays the Jews' return to their native Israel and making it an independent republic. He vividly describes the hatred of the Jews by their enemies, the Germans and the Arabs, the bitter struggle for independence and the merciless hostility against his people. Uris cleverly combines characters such as the hard Ari Ben Canaan and the tender Karen Clement to show the strength and endurance of the Israelites. He builds up the reader's sympathy for Israel by giving a short biography of the main characters filled with ruthless injustices on the part of different countries that have mistreated the Jews. The reader is lifted up and carried through powerful incidents until he actually mourns for the men and women of Israel to the final tragic end.

THE YEARNING

By Marjorie K. Rawlings

Reviewed by Roy Rogers

The swamp was still and deadly quiet. The sun had become suddenly unbearably hot. An old sunset-red bloodhound stalked quietly out of the underbrush sniffing at the enormous prints in the slimy Florida mud. A haggard faced, exhausted looking man, with a sickly-white sapling of a boy at his heels, stumbled out after the dog. He stood for a moment looking confused. Suddenly the very air shattered with a terrifying roar as a mountain of a bear tore out of the blackjack with the old dog snapping at his heels. The man raised his gun with renewed energy and purpose and fired with the deadly aim of a hunter who knew he must kill or be killed. The boy came to life and ran to the monstrosity calling. "You done it, Pa, you done it." This was the exciting end of a three-day hunt for the ferocious bear known as old Slewfoot, since he had left a toe in a bear trap.

This and many other exciting and heartbreaking events give The Yearling a savor of adventure and warmth sweet to the taste of any reader. The joy and heartbreak of Jody's love and devotion for the young deer Flag and the hardships of life in Florida's swamplands in the 1870's supply the warmth and feeling that go

Roman Cities Closed By Day To All Vehicles

Rome—Urban traffic problems plagued even ancient Rome. One of Julius Caesar's first acts on taking power in Rome was to ban wheeled traffic from the downtown area during the day. The result was a heavy flow of noisy nighttime traffic.

Later emperors extended the ban to every city in the Roman Empire and finally Hadrian limited even the number and loads of carts permitted in the capital at night.

He did have a fast car, but he couldn't handle it. My friends are gone and I can never bring them back, but this boy, this "driver" has to live with this nightmare for the remainder of his natural life. He cannot be blamed, but should be pitied. How much more God has punished him than those other three! But like anywhere else, there are some people who think differently than I do and their minds cannot be changed that quickly. And whenever they see this boy, this poor kid, it will be hell for him!

But was this accident caused by a direct fault of his? I do not think so. For in a man there are four things, which are our basic needs—food, warmth and shelter are the first three. This boy had all these and they were well supplied. The fourth is called a secondary drive in psychology. It's love. Parental love for which he did not have, which everyone needs and must receive. He had to go somewhere else for his love and this led him to these boys through his car. He wanted to be loved through his car. He wanted people to notice him, to give him the notice he was deprived from at "home." For when a boy (not just this one) goes fast in a car, he does not say, "Look at my car", but rather, "Look at ME!"

That poor kid! I hope that now he has learned a lesson that I have learned sooner. He has learned it too late, if not at all. I'm glad I learned it now for I just got my driver's license yesterday and have been going to a school of driver education to learn more before I get into a car. I pray that I never have my personality confused with a car.

Today is a nice day and is supposed to be in the 90's like yesterday. I'm playing baseball again this year and plan to go to Stonehill College in the fall.

I love you both,
David

Low Cost Power, Recreational Facilities, The Tourist Industry Jobs Well Done and Why We Need Noble Gregory In Congress.

NOBLE J. GREGORY

This is addressed to citizens of every county profiting from tourist and recreational facilities, flood control and cheaper power and the industrial development and the employment opportunities at Calvert City and elsewhere resulting from this construction.

Frequently candidates for office make unjustified claims for accomplishment in their desire to influence voters. I have always felt it to be my solemn duty to further the interests of a worthy constituency without advertising or exploiting my accomplishments. However in the light of challenges as to what I have done I feel that I should call attention to actual facts in connection with the legislation authorizing initial construction of Kentucky Dam.

When this legislation came to the House in my first term in 1938 the fight was long and bitter. The Republican party and private power groups gave very vigorous opposition. I made an intensive and vigorous office to office personal campaign for its passage. After a long and hard fight the bill was passed by a narrow margin.

At that time there was a very active local organization sponsoring the dam and the late Warren Swann of Murray and L. J. Horton of Murray State College were President and Secretary respectively. Mr. Horton wrote each Member of Congress a personal letter thanking them for their support. He received many replies all unsolicited. Before leaving Kentucky he gave me these letters which I cherish. Here reproduced are excerpts from several of these letters which clearly and definitely point to the part I played in securing enactment of this legislation. The number of such letters received by Mr. Horton far exceed the margin by which the bill was passed.

It gives me a great deal of pleasure to cooperate with your able Congressman, Noble Gregory, in connection with the Gilbertsville Dam appropriation.

There is no man in the House for whom I have higher regard and affection than Noble Gregory, and I want you to know that I always get pleasure from working with him.

LYNDON B. JOHNSON
Congressman from the 10th District of Texas

Frankly I had never been greatly impressed with Gilbertsville, but you have such a nice fellow representing you up here in Congressman Gregory and he was so thoroughly sold on the project himself that I did render what service I could and did it as a courtesy to Congressman Gregory. He's a fine fellow and I am very fond of him and it is my observation that he misses no opportunity to look after the welfare of his people.

JOE B. BATES
Congressman from the 8th District of Kentucky

You are to be complimented upon being represented in Congress by a Member who has the ability, tact and industry shown by Mr. Gregory. He has made scores of friends and his sincerity and industry on behalf of Gilbertsville Dam and other matters involving his district make him an invaluable representative.

CHARLES H. LEAVY
Congressman from 5th District, Washington

My colleague, Noble Gregory, was the one who did yeoman's work on this measure.

RICHARD M. ATKINSON
Congressman, from 5th District, Tennessee

I cannot resist saying to you that your own Representative, Honorable Noble Gregory, has done his full duty in this matter and deserves the commendation of the people in his District.

HERRON PEARSON
Congressman, from 7th District, Tennessee

It was a pleasure to me to have given assistance to my able colleague, Honorable N. J. Gregory. Mr. Gregory is one of the finest men in the House. He is sincere, energetic, and certainly a hard worker for his District. The great amount of work he did on this undertaking should be long felt by his constituency.

LYLE H. BOREN
Congressman from 4th District, Oklahoma

Mr. Gregory is my personal friend, and I wouldn't know how to say "no" to any request that he makes, and he is certainly interested in the Gilbertsville Dam project.

B. FRANK WHELCHER
Congressman, from 9th District, Texas

I am always happy when I can cooperate with my good friend, Noble Gregory, in legislation in which he may be especially interested. He is a very splendid young man, and enjoys the confidence of his colleagues, both Democrats and Republicans.

CHARLES L. SOUTH
Congressman from 21st District of Texas

You may be assured that it was a pleasure to me to cooperate with your Representative, Honorable Noble J. Gregory, in supporting the Gilbertsville Dam project. Mr. Gregory worked hard for this appropriation and I am glad that the measure passed. I trust that a great deal of benefit will be derived therefrom.

A. L. FORD
Congressman from 4th District, Mississippi

Congressman Gregory is one of the finest men in Congress and has many friends here. The people of your District should be very grateful to him for his splendid work in their behalf.

ALBERT THOMAS
Congressman from 8th District, Texas

Your letter of the 10th has been received, and it pleases me to cooperate with my friend and colleague, Congressman N. J. Gregory.

NAT PATTON
Congressman, 7th District, Texas

Your Congressman, Noble J. Gregory, did some very splendid work in your behalf, and I was glad on his account, as well as on account of the merit of the project, to support same.

LUTHER A. JOHNSON
Congressman, from 6th District, Texas

A Congressman is a public servant and an employee of his people. He should be judged by the character of service he can render and the type of intelligent and beneficial work done for his constituency state and nation.

This is one of many, though the major accomplishment to which I lay claim. On the basis of my record which speaks for itself I earnestly solicit your support in the May 29th primary. On the records of public service the candidates should be judged. I hope that you feel that my accomplishments deserve your support for reelection that I may continue to advance the cause of the First District.
